Overview and Progression

Aims

The aim of our History curriculum is for children to develop a clear understanding of Britain and the wider world in the past, through the study of a diverse range of people and events.

They will develop a sense of curiosity about what life used to be like and be able to ask and investigate insightful questions. Children will be able to think critically, weigh evidence, sift arguments, and develop perspective and judgement. They will develop an appreciation of the complexity of people's lives, the process of change and the diversity of societies and relationships between different groups.

Key historical concepts and skills are revisited through different units of work, allowing Children to build on their prior knowledge and understanding and to develop a secure understanding of chronology and the passing of time. They make connections between their learning and identify patterns across time.
